Except for minor inroads on new levees along the Santa Ana river, which flood control authorities said they expected to handle without difficulty, the current storm still was within bounds today, though the total precipitation jumped another 1.70 inches in 24 hours to a total of 7.72 inches for the storm and exactly 8 inches for the season in Santa Ana.

Good news from up the river, where the rainfall was kept down to 1.19 inches for the 24-hour period, lightened the gloom with which Flood Control Engineer M. N. Thompson and his staff had viewed the situation early today as they noted the additional local precipitation.

Danger Slight

Yesterday's eight inches of snow in the San Bernardino mountains had been increased to 15 inches today, Thompson was informed, but cool weather in that region gave no cause for fear that excessive melting would flood the valleys. With the rainfall in the upper counties reasonably low and a weather forecast of clearing skies by tonight, it was believed that Orange county would suffer no difficulty with the river.

At Santiago dam, the water level was 12 feet from the spillway, the dam having 18,485 acre feet of water behind it, with a total capacity of 25,000 acre feet.

Highways Blocked

Santa Ana's rainfall was among the heaviest precipitations in Southern California. In Los Angeles, where the hottest December weather in history was followed by the heaviest December rainfall in 50 years, the total for the storm had reached 6.52 inches. Highways were blocked in the Los Angeles and Santa Monica area and San Fernando valley; landslides near Santa Monica crushed a dozen houses and frame buildings in the region recently burned over.

Malibu Beach, the movie residential colony, has restored telephone communication. The sheriff's sub-station had been using short-wave radio.

Clouds forced airliners to land at Long Beach instead of Burbank.

A landslide blocked the Southern Pacific tracks 11 miles north of Saugus and one train, the Tehachapi, bound from Los Angeles to Fresno, was delayed several hours until the earth was moved away.

U. S. Seaman Is Jailed By Nazis

HAMBURG, Germany, Dec. 20. — (UP)—George Roth, a young American seaman, was arrested aboard the United States Liner Washington Nov. 29 and is being held for trial, charged with distributing Communist propaganda among German seamen, it was learned today.

Hamburg prosecuting authorities are assembling details of the case, it was said, and it was forecast that Roth would be tried next month. The American consulate here and the consulate general at Berlin cooperated in efforts to aid Roth.

Lawrence Simpson, American seaman of the United States Liner Manhattan was arrested in 1936 on a similar charge. After having been held at a concentration camp for nine months he was tried by a Nazi "people's" court and sentenced to two years in prison. However, the time which he had spent awaiting trial was deducted and Adolf Hitler pardoned him and ordered him expelled after he had served about two months.

Proclaims 1938 "Yule Season"

SACRAMENTO, Cal., Dec. 20. — (UP)—Gov. Frank F. Merriam today urged Californians to "bring business and cheer to the hearts of those less fortunate" in proclaiming "1938 Yule season."

The governor asked communities to cooperate in out-of-door Christmas celebrations and light

'BUM' YESTERDAY, HERO TODAY GUIDE RESCUES WRECK VICTIMS

JUNEAU, Alaska, Dec. 20.—(UP)—Nels Ludwigson was a "bum" yesterday but a hero today as he guided 16 shipwrecked seamen to safety over the storm-swept, rugged terrain of Cape Fairweather.

Released from jail after serving only five days of a 10-day sentence for being drunk and disorderly, Nels was given a friendly slap on the back by his jailers. He is acknowledged as one of the best trappers and woodsmen in the north.

"You bring 'em back, Nels," the jailers said. "You're the one that can do it."

And so Nels, smiling at his old "sourdough" friends, climbed into Sheldon Simons' seaplane. Together they took off on a mercy flight that will go down in the northland's history as one of the most courageous in a land where

REVEAL COSTER-MUSICA TRIED TO SELL ARMS TO GEN. CHIANG

NEW YORK, Dec. 20. — (UP)—Federal authorities turned up evidence today that McKesson & Robbins, Inc., was involved in a deal to sell 2,000,000 outmoded army rifles to the Chinese army but was turned down by Generalissimo Chiang Kai-Shek.

The disclosure came as the state's attorney general, in a public hearing, produced testimony that Philip Musica, as F. Donald Coster, president of the 105 year old drug firm, was an autocratic executive whose decisions were seldom questioned by other directors and officers.

Tells Grand Jury

That China was the destination of a large supply of Lee-Enfield army rifles which Coster undertook to deliver was revealed by Edward Pawley of Shanghai, one of several witnesses before the federal grand jury.

Nippon Planes Bomb Harbor

SHANGHAI, Dec. 20.—(UP)—A Japanese spokesman said today that naval planes had bombed Pakhoi harbor in southeastern China, as well as Yangkiang and Yangchun, west of Macao, and destroyed 29 Chinese pill boxes along the Pearl river between Dec. 14 and Dec. 19.

Advices from Chungking said Chinese forces in northern Hunan provinces had recaptured Matang, killing 300 Japanese soldiers and capturing supplies. Another Chinese column was reported to have captured a position near Yochow and was bombarding the Japanese forces there.

Rainstorm Hits

C. OF C. SEEKS DATA ON FLAG

Directors of the Newport Harbor Chamber of Commerce will be asked to appoint a special committee to make further investigations to determine if possible the exact spot where the American flag was first raised in accordance with the reports recently issued which discloses a flag-raising ceremony near Old Newport pier.

The approximate date for the initial appearance of the American flag in California is somewhere about 1800, according to a recent magazine story and in connection with the story is the further statement that the original flag still is in existence.

With the recent discovery near San Quentin of the metal plate used by Sir Francis Drake to signify his landing at Drake's bay north of the Golden Gate and San Francisco, many new facts regarding the early discoveries of California are coming to light.

The chamber seeks accurate data relative to the landing in California of the first party of Americans. This party, sailing out of Boston in 1790, rounded Cape Horn, on their way to Oregon and landed on the beach near where Newport now stands in order to replenish their water supply, according to the magazine article.

THERMON MEANS IS SUED FOR DIVORCE

Thermon Means, prominent Santa Ana builder who was identified with construction of Santa Ana high school auditorium, the Santa Ana city hall and other major structures, today was named defendant in a suit for divorce, filed by his wife, Mrs. Effie B. Means, who asks $350 per month alimony and $2500 attorney fees, claiming Means has an income of $1000 per month and that there is community property worth $100,000.

Mrs. Means charges cruelty, claiming that Means went to Ontario last March to supervise construction of a building, informed he intended to live there during the construction period, and then forbade her accompanying him. She has seen him infrequently since then, she states, charging that he is paying attention to another woman. He has taken the other woman motoring, dining and to theaters, and she has seen him kissing and embracing the other woman in secluded spots, the wife alleges.

Mrs. Means asks, besides a divorce, a restraining order to prevent Means from disposing of community property. Attorney Leo J. Fries, of Anaheim, represents her in the suit.

Mr. and Mrs. Means married in Los Angeles in 1922 and separated a week ago today, the complaint states.

Agricultural Inspectors Begin Check On Santa

Even Santa Claus must observe the California plant quarantine laws, and even Santa Claus sometimes forgets that fact, so the agricultural inspectors must check on him.

Just now, according to Agricultural Commissioner D. W. Tubbs, inspectors are doing double duty keeping tab on Christmas packages coming by mail and express from eastern states. Much material suspected of containing such pests as oriental fruit moth, Mexican fruit worm, Japanese beetle, cotton insects, not tree insects, and citrus pests.

Watch Certain Articles

In most instances, under instruction from the postmaster general, said Tubbs, eastern postal authorities prevent the shipment of contraband material. Occasionally, however, in the rush of work, certain articles are not declared by the shipper or noticed by the shipping agencies in the east.

The postal authorities in California, particularly in Orange county, have been most cooperative in assisting with these quarantines, according to Tubbs. Under their present heavy load of holiday work, he pointed out, it is to be expected that some pest-carrying material will pass detection, so the public is asked to cooperate in seeing that all dangerous or questionable material is handled in such a manner as to safeguard the agricultural future of the state.

Elderly Man Hurt When Hit By Car

Leaving city council meeting about 8 p. m. yesterday after successfully obtaining approval of a building permit wanted by him, Wesley A. Taylor, 70, 501 West Santa Clara, walked across the street at Third and Main and was struck down by a car driven by L. E. Platt, 49, Route 4, Santa Ana, police reports show. Taylor suffered shock and cuts about both eyes, was given first aid by Capt. R. S. Elliott and taken to a doctor for further treatment.

JUNIOR HIGH GROUP GIVES YULE PROGRAM

The Christmas program which last night supplied a festive atmosphere for Santa Ana Yule shoppers was provided by students of Frances Willard and Julia Lathrop Junior High schools, under sponsorship of the Santa Ana Exchange club. The cooperation of Leon Eckles, director of the Federal Music project, helped make the broadcast possible, said Les Eckles, Exchange club president. The broadcast, from the top of the First National bank.

The following program was broadcast by Willard students: "O Little Town of Bethlehem" and "Silent Night," by the eighth grade girls glee club directed by Miss Sylvester; "Luther's Cradle Hymn" and "Angels We Have Heard on High," girls trio directed by Miss Glancy; "Cantique de Ne", mixed chorus directed by Miss Sylvester; "I Saw Three Kings" and "I Heard the Bells on Christmas Day," boys glee club directed by Mr. Michel.

The Lathrop students, directed by Mr. Stover, provided the following numbers: "Bring a Torch, Jeanette Isabella", mixed octet; "Jesus bambino", vocal solo by Kathryn Stockton; violin solo, "Angels' Serenade," by Marjorie Keefer, and "Deck the Halls," by the octet.

POLICE HUNT LOITERERS

G. M. Hauck, 109 South Parton, and Harold English, 1320 King street, reported suspicious characters last night but police were unable to find them, both men. ## Death of Son Cited In Lawsuit

The death of their son, Donald C. Meyer, in a highway accident near Placentia September 12, was made the basis of a suit for damages filed today in superior court by Mr. and Mrs. David Meyer, who ask $16,484.22 on each of the three causes of action.

Their complaint, filed through Attorneys Drumm, Tucker and Drumm, of Santa Ana, names Harry Carpenter, truck driver, the Anaheim Truck and Transfer company, and the A. L. Foster Sand and Gravel concern, of Fullerton, as defendants. Carpenter was named in all three causes of action, the other defendants each being named in two.

Donald Meyer was fatally injured, it was alleged, while working on the center white line of Valencia avenue between Placentia and Olinda. Carpenter was driving a truck carrying in the deck as used for which hauled a trailer, the trailer tune telling. They denote treacherous Meyer, the suit claims, even death.

Nels was left to guide most of the party to Lituya Bay, 25 miles to the south. Simmons took two of the survivors aboard his plane. They were the Patterson's chief engineer, Clark McDowell and Third Officer Steven Johnson.

The plane took off again and returned to Juneau where McDowell and Johnson gave a graphic account of their experiences.

Abandon Ship
They said the ship was caught during a strong gale and swung around and onto the beach. It was aground and being pounded to pieces when the crew abandoned ship.

Declared Dangerous
In the communication the chambered:

"Because of the fact that usually only one train per day is operated over the Southern Pacific tracks, the grade crossings are more than ordinarily dangerous, inasmuch as people do not expect to see trains approaching and are not on their guard. Since the chamber of commerce requested the Southern Pacific Railway to remove this track a few months ago, three persons have lost their lives at crossings on this line."

"Actual Advantage"

It is also recognized that the railway line prevents the normal flow of the city to the north and east and that it would be of great value to Santa Ana to have the line removed and re-routed from Anaheim Junction.

"Informal investigation of this matter indicates that no harm would be done to the Southern Pacific Railway by the suggested change and an actual advantage might result."

COLD WAVE SWEEPS
EUROPE; SCORES DIE

LONDON, Dec. 20. (UPI)—A cold wave, increasingly severe as it continued, caused suffering to millions and death to hundreds today over all Europe.

Temperatures ranging down to 40 degrees below zero were recorded and it was reported that the worst was to come. Snow storms swept some areas. Reports from all over the continent, and from towns in the British Isles, told of the danger of terrible fires because hose lines froze and firemen were unable to do anything but watch fires. Ships were frozen in ice at numerous ports. Ravenous wolves made desperate by the rigorous weather raided the outskirts of villages in the Carpathian mountains, seeking sheep. Heavy damage to winter crops was feared because the snows which finally fell came only after the ground was frozen hard.

Casualty reports were fragmentary but they indicated the toll which must have been exacted. Twenty-five deaths in Great Britain were attributed to the cold; it was reported from the Lodz area of Poland that 70 persons had been frozen to death. Ten deaths had been recorded among Jewish refugees on the Polish-German frontier. Rumania reported 11 known dead, Hungary two.

out unless the four ministers do.

There were other reports that because of publicity given the matter, the four ministers themselves may precipitate a cabinet crisis by offering their resignations in order to force Chamberlain to express his confidence in them or to replace them.

NAMED as leaders in the revolt of the junior ministers are A. V. M. Hudson, of the transport ministry; the Marquess of Dufferin and Ava, of the colonial office; Lord Strathcona and Mt. Royal, of the war office; Capt. H. F. C. Crookshank, of the board of trade, and the Earl of Feversham, of the ministry of agriculture. All are parliamentary secretaries.

Today's newspapers discussed the situation frankly. They said that the fight was particularly aimed against War Minister Hore-Belisha on the allegation that he had misled the country regarding the progress of rearmament and particularly of anti-aircraft rearmament. As regards the four ministers generally, it was said that the juniors complained that they had failed to take advantage of the breathing space after the Czechoslovak crisis to speed armament.

by either an American or a non-American nation. Not only armed aggression but any other activity, such as political penetration, which might impair the national institutions of an American republic, would call for united action.

There were indications that the compromise draft might be further revised after conferences among chief delegates. As it stands, the compromise represents a victory for Argentina in that it includes aggression by an American nation against another American nation. Secretary of State Cordell Hull, chief of the United States delegation, had held out for a plain statement that the American republics would stand united against aggression by a non-American nation, so that the American dictators would tell the European dictators to keep out.

"It is recommended to the council that a rule be adopted to either prohibit future solicitation of any kind or character by members of the unformed departments, directly or by sponsorship, or require that the Standing Investigating committee be named or a special committee be selected to make recommendations. It is also recommended that the same rules apply to all other departments of the city."

LIBRARY PLANS ON ARTISTIC DISPLAY

Plans are being completed today for the exhibition of the work of leading water color artists of Southern California at the public library during the first six weeks of the new year as the first official effort of the newly formed art committee of the library, Miss Ethel Walker, librarian said today.

Artistic Interests

The committee, composed of four men and four women, has been organized to foster the artistic interests of the community and at the same time relieve the present library staff of part of the work entailed in presenting exhibitions at the library.

Members of the committee are: Mrs. Frederic T. Dunstan, Miss Frances Egge, Miss Hazel Bemis, Miss Ethel Walker, Burr Shafer, Louis Danz, Donald Button, and Thomas Glenn. Glenn will represent the library board on the committee. Button, who has been active in securing exhibits for the library during the past year and a half will serve as secretary for the committee.

CLUB PARTY TONIGHT

LA HABRA, Dec. 20.—The Women's club will entertain with a Christmas party at the clubhouse this evening. This program will be open to the public. A cedar chest is to be awarded as a special prize.

In charge of the program are Mrs. Len Hart, Miss Eleanor Robinson, Mrs. Erwin Gates, Mrs. R. M. Reed, Mrs. H. R. Eller and Mrs. A. L. Stone.

"STORES WITHIN STORE," IS NEW SLOGAN AT VANDERMAST'S

More than $6000 has been spent in establishing four new "stores within a store," according to Walter Vandermast, head of Vandermast Clothiers, who today announced the termination of the lease at the Fourth and Broadway store and the opening of four new departments at the Fourth and Sycamore location.

In line with the latest ideas presented with low show cases and shelves so that "little men" will be able to inspect their purchases. A women's rest room will be installed in the new addition to Vandermast's.

Remarks On Changes

"The people of Santa Ana and Orange county have made possible the new arrangement by their continued patronage," Vandermast said today, "and we have spared no expense in making the four new departments light, airy, and as comfortable as modern housing construction and design can make it."

Install New Elevator
In making over the second floor, the Vandermast concern has installed a new elevator to the second floor and has completely "done over" the new location with modern fixtures and has installed two huge skylights and an air conditioning system. The fixtures in the new "stores" will be trimmed in maroon and the motif of the decorations will be maroon, gray, with turquoise blue drapes. All fixtures in the junior department will be specially designed.

Formal opening has been set for early in January.

Dinner Held By Alamitos Circle

GARDEN GROVE, Dec. 20.—Members of the missionary circle of the Alamitos Friends church gathered for a pot luck dinner recently at the home of Mrs. Veva Long, with Mrs. Grace Morgan as co-hostess. After dinner all took part in a gift exchange arranged by Mrs. Josie Nichols and Mrs. Elish Broady.

Miss Agnes Dunn, missionary nurse in India for a number of years, spoke on her work in that country. The devotional service was conducted by Mrs. Nellie Amos and the Bible story of Joseph was told by Miss Jennie Hoover.

Present were Mesdames Grace Mitchell, Cora Hansler, Tennessee Pritchard, Effie Swayze, Elsie Broady, Nellie Amos, Perle Gardiner, Lavine Rice, Jessie Nichols, Maude Barnes, Nellie Benson, Rosa Newsom, Margaret Miller, Agnes

Carson, Moe Scott, Estella Jones, Emma Kearns, Daisy Simpson, Ethel McDonald, the Rev. and Mrs. Albert Stuart, the Misses Jennie Hoover and Agnes Dunn and Mrs. Long and two daughters.

Friends Guests At Card Affair

BUENA PARK, Dec. 20.—Mrs. Richard Mosey, of 822 Fullerton avenue, entertained friends at a dessert bridge. The rooms were decorated with Christmas holly and red tapers in white holders.

The guests played bridge after luncheon and when scores were counted Mrs. Liggett was awarded travel prize and Mrs. Wahl first prize. Besides a house guest for the holidays at the Mosey home, Mrs. Lella Kiernan, of Crest Line, guests were Mesdames M. D. Coger, Howard Colemen, Claude Wahl, Ella Liggett, R. E. Sutherland, Miss Amy Wheeler and Will Walling.

GIRL SCOUTS: ELECT
WESTMINSTER, Dec. 20.—Officers for Westminster Girl Scout troop were elected at a troop meeting held at the home of Mrs. R. P. Meairs, Girl Scout captain, with Marguerite Fogier as president; Marie Fogier, troop scribe; patrol leaders, Helen Snyder, eighth grade; Beverly Peckham, sixth grade; Vivian Hart, fifth grade.

Twenty-eight girls now belong to the Scouts and a court of honor is being held at the home of Mrs. Meairs next Tuesday afternoon at 3 o'clock.

Guardsmen Hold Christmas Party

National Guardsmen of Company L and Headquarters Company, Third Battalion, 185th Infantry and guests, its night enjoyed their annual Christmas party in the Veterans hall with a dinner served by the American Legion auxiliary.

Dinner entertainment was furnished by the Wallace Brothers orchestra, C. W. Rowland, magician; Ethel May Hazen and Betty May Johnson, accordions; and Sgt. Collette with his famous dialogue on "When I Joined the Army."

After the dinner and entertainment the two organizations adjourned to Orange where the balance of the evening was spent in dancing in conjunction with Company "I" of that city.

Add absurd figures: Elliott Roosevelt, the president's son, who cracked from Fort Worth that the Cotton Bowl would have TWO big football games Jan 2 as well as a New Year's sports extravaganza that "will push the Rose Bowl into the Pacific ocean". Young Mr. Roosevelt ended "up" with ONE game; St. Mary's vs. Texas Tech, hardly a contest to tax anyone's heart. St. Mary's was a FIFTH choice...

Time tip: The first race will start at 1 p.m. instead of 1:30 at Santa Anita on "openay day" Dec. 31. Thereafter, however, post-time always will be 1:30... Orangia high school's basketball club is gunning for its fourth consecutive tournament championship at Huntington Beach Saturday night when it lost to Colton in the finals. The Panthers' semi-final victory over Huntington Beach, an upset, was attributed by Huntington Beach supporters to the fantastic charm all "Hod" Chambers seem to have over the Oilers...

Athletes Bias Mercurio, Cy Leivermann, Bill Wilson, Pete Kotlar are helping Uncle Sam's distribute Christmas mail at the Santa Ana postoffice. Big Cy expects to return to the Jaycees basketball lineup after the first of the year. His broken hand is mending nicely. But Leivermann will have to hustle now to win back his job at center because blond Bob Schildmeyer looks like a honey at the position.

Dons Vic Lindsfog and Romolo Narducci (football) are spending the Christmas vacation period at their home town of Roundup, Mont. There's a community name that inspires you... They say Fullerton Jaycees has never lost an overtime game on its own basketball court. Already this term the Hornets have taken Pomona college (50-41) and Monrovia's Lions (37-36) in extra sessions. Bob and Bill White, six-six twins from Exeter who once enrolled at Santa Ana Jaycees, are Fullerton's hot shots although All-Conference Tom Keesey really makes the wheels go round...

DOTS SO: Jack Singer, clever young writer of the Los Angeles Times who has been covering wrestling and boxing, will join the staff of the New York Journal-American after Christmas. "Stub" Nelson, onetime sports editor of the old L.A. Record, will replace him on the Times. Nelson has been on the Portland Oregonian...

Capistrano hit no particular ice in the Orange County league last season but two of its stars are regulars on Pacific Coast conference freshman quintets now. Dick Stoddard is on the U. C. L. A. team and Bob Cook at Stanford. Coach Johnny Ward of Santa Ana Jaycees' track squad, hints darkly of an incoming February frost who can vault 13 feet and high jump 6-3. The Dons look to have a fine cinderpath club in the making...

Did you know that Tex Oliver was once head of the Jaycees athletic department, although he coaches high school football here?... Prexy Jimmie Heffron of Anaheim reveals that Justice Hubert Finlay of Colton, one of the real pioneers of softball in Southern California, is returning to the National league next season at the helm of the San Bernardino Ponies. Whether Finlay's team will play at San Bernardino or at Colton has not been definitely decided. That leaves the National league all set but for final decision from Brea. That announcement is expected soon after the first of the new year.

HOLD UP PURSES IN MONTANA; CAESAR GOES

SAN FRANCISCO—(UP)—A main even bout between Small Montana, former flyweight champion, and Little Caesar, Los Angeles, was called "no contest" by Referee Jack Hogan last night after the fight had lasted one minute 50 seconds.

Montana jabbed Caesar with a left hook midway in the first round and Caesar went down. The time-keeper tolled off the allotted 10 seconds. Hogan did not give Caesar a count, however, and after instructing Caesar to "get up and fight," announced the bout was "no contest."

Hogan's action automatically held up the purses of both principals, pending inquiry by the state boxing commission.

Tidball On Davis Cup Team?

DUKE'S SQUAD OFF FOR GAME WITH TROJANS

By UNITED PRESS

LOS ANGELES—Mailing of lace-trimmed panties to two members of the Duke football team with the suggestion that they wear them in the Rose Bowl Jan. 2 against Southern California, was regarded here today as a screened attempt to fire the Blue Devils.

"Every attempt is being made to give Duke the psychological edge over our boys," said Coach Howard Jones of U. S. C. "I'm sorry that a few people outside of the university have been attempting to belittle Duke. They are just stirring those boys up and making it tougher than ever for the Trojans in a game that at best looks like an even chance for our team."

DUKE OFF FOR PASADENA

DURHAM, N. C.—It's "westward ho" for Duke today and everybody the coaching staff was happy as the Blue Devils worked out briefly before entraining for Pasadena and the Rose Bowl.

Coaches were gloomy but for reasons unknown. They did say, however, that the players were too exuberant off the field and sometimes on, and that they fear an attack of overconfidence. The team leaves at 4 p.m. today and will arrive in Pasadena early Saturday.

VOLS WORK ON PASSES

KNOXVILLE, Tenn.—Tennessee hope to develop an aerial attack to supplement powerful running game for its Jan. 2 battle against unbeaten Oklahoma in the Orange Bowl.

Unbeaten and untied Vols, champions of the Southeastern conference, yesterday held their first regular practice since the season ended and concentrated on passing. All 41 members of the squad were on hand.

NO SCRIMMAGE FOR SOONERS

NORMAN, Okla.—Oklahoma will not do any scrimmaging for the Orange Bowl game at Miami against Tennessee until it reaches the Southland after Dec. 25.

T. C. U. WARNED OF TECH

FORT WORTH, Tex.—Texas Christian will devote considerable time during the next few days to perfecting a defense for its All-America passer, Davey O'Brien. T. C. U. meets Carnegie Tech in the New Orleans Sugar Bowl Jan. 2 and Coach "Dutch" Meyer told his team that Tech has a "smashing, driving and rugged offense that is hard to stop."

CARNEGIE REACHES BASE

BAY ST. LOUIS, Miss.—Carnegie Tech got down to serious work today for its Sugar Bowl game against Texas Christian. The Tartars will remain here until the morning of the game and hold two practice sessions daily.

Tustin's Cagers Draw Puente At Chino Tourney

Christmas holidays have arrived but basketball teams of Tustin and Huntington Beach are "carrying on" anyway. They go to Chino tomorrow for first round games in an invitational tournament sponsored by Chino's 20-30 club.

I say we saw nothing; that statement is wrong. The second day above timber, we were crossing a divide when we began to look for scrub brush for a fire with which to make tea when, far up a glacier wash, the Indians saw with the glasses a mother grizzly and two cubs. At first I couldn't make them out but approaching closer I plainly saw.

I had no intention of trying for a shot but there is a fascination in the approach to wild game so John and I left Alex with the horses, rode a considerable distance, left the horses to graze behind a small hill and started the approach on foot. We passed two porcupines ambling along in their slow, comical way and I was surprised to see them so far from timber. Finally, opposite the place marked for the grizzly family, we cautiously approached the steep bank and looked over into the bed of the glacier stream. They were gone. Nor did John and I ever seem them again but Alex, who had my glasses, had seen them un hurriedly start for the summit and pass over and out of sight. The mother might have become suspicious or, maybe, was just seized with the wanderlust. Certainly they neither saw nor scented our outfit but as we didn't want any of them their departure was no great disappointment. When I first began hunting here the Indians wondered at my refusal to shoot a mother bear with small cubs; now they know.

Game regulations in British Columbia on porcupines is interesting and, I think, logical. They do not allow these animals shot or wantonly killed for a reason. A man or woman lost, without a gun and without food, can easily kill one of these moving animals with a club or stone and thus avert starvation. If you have matches to build a fire, you can feed pretty substantially off a porcupine (as they are called). Without matches? Well, they're not so good but you won't starve. We must have seen one of which we bothered. You ask "Why would anyone be in that country without a gun?" People wouldn't intentionally but you may

MAKO TO PLAY DOUBLES WITH NEW PARTNER

By HENRY McLEMORE

(United Press Staff Correspondent)

LOS ANGELES—In 1930 California sent east a tennis player named Jack Tidball. He was 18, red-faced, long-legged, cocky, and hard to handle.

He had a game as hot as a firecracker, and a temperament to match. He had just as lieft, hit a backhand was all right his behavior wasn't, and his language wasn't quite as impeccable as his looks.

He hadn't played in more than two tournaments in the effete East before sportswriters had dubbed him "The terrible tempered Mr. Tidball." He threw racquets. He swore so loudly that the 250 standees could hear him. He tore out his hair as often as he tore out the hearts of the tennis officials, who like their players to be gentlemen if not scholars.

Warned By Coast Officials

Tidball was such a cutup on the courts that he received airmail letters of admonition from the Pacific Coast association and his parents. And admonition at six cents a letter really is admonition. Pilots risked fog and poor visibility to carry corrective hints to Tidball.

Now, eight years later, this same Tidball is preparing to go east. He will travel with Gene Mako, and his job will be to replace the now professional Donald Budge as the American Davis Cup doubles partner of Mako.

Can he do it? Can Tidball, the former screwball, combine with Mako well enough to form a team that can beat back the challenge of the Australians next June?

I didn't know the answer to this burning question, so I had lunch with Tidball and put it directly up to him.

"Well," he said, "If you want to know whether I am good enough to make up for Don Budge, the answer is no, no, and two more noes. I'm not good enough to fill Don's shoes, and no other tennis player in the world is. But I think Mako and I will make a pretty good team. We're not new to one another, you know. As long ago as 1933 we played together through a whole season and were good enough to win the National clay courts title. We've played a lot together and the only teams that ever beat us were the Elly Vines and Keith Gledhill and Adrian Quist and Don Turnbull of Australia."

Says He's Grown Up

Being a thorough, if not tactful, reporter, I asked him about his temperament.

"Just put me down as grown up," Tidball answered. "I didn't know much then, and was just a kid. Everything I felt I showed, now that I have grown to be a man, and had a try at making a living, I have found that you can't show all the things you feel. I use all my energy playing tennis now, and not cursing myself, the umpire and my opponent."

Tidball, after nearly four years away from serious tennis competition, returned to the west last October and best he could do was to lick Eric Fibby of England, Jack Bromwich of Australia, and Bobby Riggs in a row. And that was in singles, a game at which he is not as proficient as he is at doubles. Four years of playing for fun has not only changed his temperament—it has cured his forward weakness, and today he is an even money bet against any amateur in the world.

I have no explanation of this change in Jack Tidball, except that the boy has become a man.

KERR SAYS COLLEGE FOOTBALL TOPS PROS

By ANDREW CHICAGO

(Associated Press)

CHICAGO—Andy Kerr, Colgate's master of gridiron mysticism, believes that professional football "isn't and never will be a menace" to the college game.

Kerr, who paused here late yesterday long enough to run his Eastern All-Stars through a workout before they departed for their East-West game at San Francisco Jan. 2, believes that color and spirit will keep the college game always ahead of the "Pro ball," however, depends upon college football, he said. "When would the pro teams be if they didn't have college players to draw from? Colleges are their only source of supply."

began running down a small glade where I got only an occasional glimpse of him, and while I ran after him, he was soon lost to sight. A drop of blood here and there told me he would go a long way.

The other three disappeared as if by magic. Not in the hope of again seeing them but because it was on our course, or in our direction, we followed on down the valley into some very rough going and at noon stopped for the usual tea, then turned back for camp where we arrived at dark without further incident.

Off On Three Legs

Throwing the sling over my arm, I sat down for a knee rest. At the shot he fell, rolled over, got up, fell again and then started off on three legs. I tried for another shot but couldn't fasten the head on him. Here the valley began to break off sharply. The wolf

The PAYOFF

By HARRY GRAYSON

(NEA Service Sports Editor)

Leo R. Meyer dislikes to choose. "He seems to read the minds of between them but still and all the man who coached both reckons that the diminutive David O'Brien is just a wee mite better passer than Samuel Baugh, now of the Washington professional Redskins. "Samuel Baugh sure could . . . and can . . . hit receivers," says Dutch Meyer, "but Dave O'Brien has more poise."

And Baugh never equaled O'Brien's mark.

Dynamic Davey threw 93 completed passes out of 167 attempts, 19 of which went for Texas Christian touchdowns.

Only four were intercepted. Interceptions are bad medicine. They set up enemy touchdowns. "When you've got a passer who doesn't throw the old boomerang ball, you can sleep soundly and eat heartily," asserts Meyer.

"O'Brien seldom throws an unprotected pass.

"He takes particular care on flat-zone pegs . . . rams 'em in there like a 45-caliber bullet."

"Nineteen touchdown passes! Why, some teams don't score that many all year, and still get invited to the Rose Bowl!"

O'BRIEN THROWS STRIKES TO TARGETS HE CAN'T SEE

That is a backhanded slap at Duke, going to Pasadena to scrap Southern California, Jan. 2 . . . unbeaten, untied, unscorched on, and unwanted.

Meyer stresses the point that O'Brien, in addition to being a superlative passer, can carry the ball with anybody he has.

He just sneaks around end or squeezes inside tackle behind his roommate and eight-year teammate, the giant tackle and captain, Insull B. Hale.

It doesn't take much of a hole to let the 150-pound Davey O'Brien through and he is a little fellow who goes a long way.

Some Disinterested

On the subject of bowl games, eight per cent said they didn't care one way or another while 26 per cent approved most of the editors who favored "bowl" games qualified their replies however, with such statements as:

"They are okay if we don't get any more."

"Personally, I dislike the hypocrisy connected with the games but they do help liven up the sport pages during the dull holiday season."

"Two or three are all right, but too many of them cheapen the sport."

"I favor them if they pick representative teams," said Pat Moulton of the Mobile Press-Register. "I'm not in favor of them if they are purely a medium for advertising a certain city or a certain section of the country."

Suggest Rotating Site

"There should be one bowl game a year, possibly with the site changing each season, then the game would really mean something," said Ted Worner of the Onyx, N. Y. Herald-Statesman.

"Educational institutions are fast becoming football factories and all the kids get out of these games is a free ride and some glamour," argued Jack Ledden of the South Bend Tribune.

Lisle Shoemaker of the San Diego Sun was one of the editors who favored post-season games. He said: "Those games aren't any harder on the teams than any other tough conference tilt and thousands of fans get a chance to see football of another sector."

LOS ANGELES—(UP)—The University of California at Los Angeles will meet Texas Christian university here next Sept. 29 in a night football game to be played in the Coliseum, Bill Ackerman, U. C. L. A. graduate manager, announced today.

Texas Christian this year was one of the three best teams in the country.

Ackerman also announced that U. C. L. A. would play Montana here Oct. 12.

SEEKS CHANGES IN BUS ROUTES

Increase in the number of bus riders on the Santa Ana bus lines and downtown traffic congestion were given as reasons for plans to make changes in times and routes. C. H. Eckles, bus system operator, declared in a letter to city council last night in which he asked permission to make the changes. Council referred the request to its taxicab committee.

Four-Minute Route

Highlights of his request include: A wish to continue the South Birch line; to consolidate the northwest line with the old West Sixth, West Eighth line; a statement that the consolidation will enable the organization to give each of the four lines an average of about four minutes' driving time each trip; the only changes in time schedules are the West Sixth, West Eighth line, five minutes later, the South Birch line, five minutes earlier.

Wish for a change in the North Broadway line, routing the bus from Santa Clara and Bonnie Brae, via Santa Clara to North Broadway, then south on North Ross to 13th, thence east on North Broadway where it would travel south on North Broadway over the old route.

Two Honored At Farewell Affair

NEWPORT BEACH, Dec. 20.—Mrs. Mary Robertson Wather who is moving this week from her Balboa home, 105 Edgewater, and Mrs. George Fellows, also of Balboa, who will be spending a major share of the time in Los Angeles and vicinity, were honored with a farewell party at recent meeting of the Knit Wits club. The members were guests of Miss Winnie Hourigan, who entertained at the home of her parents on Santa Clara avenue, Santa Ana.

The club's Christmas party will be held December 27, with Mrs. C. E. McCormick of 2557 Elden avenue, Costa Mesa, as hostess. An exchange of small gifts will be held.

Guests were Mrs. Harry Hourigan, Santa Ana; Mrs. C. E. McCormick, Costa Mesa; Mrs. Coy Watts, Mrs. Mary Robertson Wather and Mrs. George Fellows, Balboa.

CHAPTER XXXIV LINDA was watching Judith and Mae was the one who was nervous when they approached the studio at four o'clock. She was shaky and she pride go utterly to pieces in front of you.

"It's not this part so much, Linda, I'm conceding that to you. All I ask is that I didn't show up too poorly in my test. It'll be curtains for Mae if I don't get over this time."

Linda smiled wisely and didn't say anything. She was glad she had done what she had that morning. It pleased her to have arranged for Mae to get the benefit of Martin's attempt to trick her into playing opposite him. Sort of poetic justice, she thought.

She peered into the future for herself. Marriage to Fred Lancaster offered much of real happiness. It was restful in Centerville. Not very glamorous, perhaps, but the glamour of Hollywood seemed composed of rather tawdry stuff to Linda, now that she had a good look at it.

AT THE studio, while they waited in the reception room for Director LaMont, Mae paced up and down nervously on the heavy rug, while Linda sat composedly in a corner with her hands folded and the merest suggestion of a smile on her lips.

Mae stopped her pacing and stared when the door opened, but it was Judith Grange instead of the director. And Martin Carstairs was with her.

Judith glanced at both the girls with a little sneer, and did not speak. Martin's face was pale, his eyes wary. He nodded to Mae and then to Linda, started toward her but turned and went to Judith who had seated herself on the far side of the room.

The silence in the room was broken by Judith's sharp whisperings and Martin's low replies. Linda couldn't hear what they were saying, but she imagined that Judith was passing the time by making uncompromising remarks about Mae and herself.

She didn't look at Martin after that first glance when he came in. It hurt too much to see him with Judith, and she was ashamed that she could still be hurt by him.

The feeling of suspense, of tense antagonism, was heavy in the room as the minutes dragged on.

Then Director LaMont and Jim Walters came quietly into the room. Everyone faced them: Martin with rigid jaw and unswerving eyes; Judith with a smile which cloaked deep anxiety; Mae with frank questioning written all over her face, and Linda relaxed and assured.

Walters nodded to Linda and dropped one eyelid in her direction as LaMont went to Martin with outstretched hand.

"I know you're anxious to meet the young lady who is going to play opposite you, Mr. Carstairs. Waiving all formality . . . let me introduce Miss Mae Baxter, Mr. Carstairs."

Mae gasped, and her hand went to her throat. Martin swallowed back his surprise, darted one quick glance at Linda before recovering himself and going to Mae to congratulate her and to mendaciously assure her he thought the studio had chosen wisely.

A Tragic Christmas for Them

(The characters in this serial are fictitious)

Members of Class In Gift Exchange

Linda folded the paper with trembling fingers, thrust it down behind the couch where Mae could not see it.

"I think I'll wire Fred right away," she said, trying to keep her voice steady.

She rose and went out to the hall telephone, leaving the door open so Mae could hear her talking.

Then, without removing the receiver from the hook, she pretended to send a message to Fred saying she would leave Los Angeles the next night for Centerville.

Carstairs, and her hand went to her throat. Martin swallowed back his surprise, darted one quick glance at Linda before recovering himself and going to Mae to congratulate her and to mendaciously assure her he thought the studio had chosen wisely.

HOLLYWOOD, December 20.—In the Paramount cafe today, I saw a pretty face that I knew I should recognize—and couldn't. "Who is she?" I asked, pointing her out to the veteran publicity man who was lunching with me. He couldn't remember either and we settled down to one of those aggravating "Gee-her-name's-right-on-the-tip-of-my-tongue" duets for a good ten minutes. Then: "I have it," exulted the p.a. "She's Cheryl Walker—the Tournament of Roses Queen we signed a year ago."

A year ago, Cheryl Walker seemed on her way to stardom. Her pictures were attracting attention in every newspaper. Paramount was acclaiming her the find of the season, and the top-notch agent who handled her business affairs was rubbing his hands and advising her to hold out for at least "one grand a week." No girl ever had a firmer grip on Dame Opportunity. But that was a year ago.

Today, Cheryl, just as beautiful as ever, is working as stand-in for Joyce Mathews—another "great find"—in "Two Weeks With Pay." She's no longer under contract and her agent long ago scratched her name off his books. The thousand dollars a week has simmered down

They're Still Cheering Man Who Gave America Christmas Tree

Ceremonies Honor
Him In Cleveland

CLEVELAND, Dec. 20.—A crowd stood in Shaker Square here a few nights ago and cheered the memory of the man who brought the Christmas tree idea to America, according to records here.

The crowd also cheered three descendants of the same man who stood beneath a huge balsam tree and threw a switch to light the 5000 colored bulbs among its branches.

Just 91 Years Ago

August Ingard, a tailor of Wooster, Ohio, was the man honored. It was in Wooster, just 91 years ago, that his "first" Christmas tree in America was decorated. Ingard was born in the Bavarian mountains of Germany, 112 years ago. He came to America and moved to Ohio before he was 20.

The first tree was raised in the Ingard home. It stood on a revolving platform and as the tree turned slowly, a hidden music box tinkled a Christmas melody. People came from miles around to see the first tree and the following year there were many trees.

Cookies Are Sugared

Ornaments were made of paper, fastened in long chains for the younger members of the pioneer community. Kuchen baked according to a recipe sent from Bavaria by Ingard's mother, hung upon the tree and served both as ornaments and tidbits. The cookies were colored with brown sugar and the family spent weeks baking them in quantities for the guests.

Gilded nuts were other ornaments and inside the gilded shells were warm messages of greeting and little poems of love and life on the old frontier.

Grandmother Happy

Daughter Gertrude, now Mrs. John McQuigg, was born long after the first tree but she remembers the trees that came later. Today, a gray-haired but sprightly grandmother, she tells the story of those first trees. She was happy indeed to assist in the ceremony of the trees at Beach Square.

There was a big dinner in a nearby tavern after the dedication and Grandmother McQuigg sat quietly through it all. Then as she stepped out in the wintry night she whispered, "I can still hear the little music box playing and see those trees were used to have."

Dr. Hollingsworth
To Address Club

Dr. Merrill W. Hollingsworth, local physician, will be the main speaker at tonight's regular meeting of the Santa Ana 20-30 club in Daniger's cafe. President Wylie Carlyle will preside.

Plans are now being formulated by the local club for a district meeting to be held here in February. Clubs from Orange, Anaheim, Long Beach, South Gate, Newport Beach, Whittier, and Fullerton will be represented.

Herbert L. Hill, member of the Santa Ana group, will have an active part as deputy district governor.

TRUE BOOSTER ASKS IMMUNITY FOR S.A. VISITORS IN PARKING

Apparently Fred G. Merker, president of the Santa Ana Chamber of Commerce, is endowed with the true chamber of commerce psychology.

He indicated as much in a communication to city council last night in which one of the interpretations of the true psychology is that a visiting motorist, above all places, doesn't relish a traffic ticket tagged to his car while he's stopping at the chamber of commerce to inquire about the merits of the community.

Asks For Zones

On behalf of the chamber, President Merker asked council to grant two special parking zones in front of the chamber offices to accommodate "callers to the chamber of commerce only" for a period not to exceed 20 minutes. "We have 25 to 50 calls per day," on the part of people who stop but from five to 15 minutes," he wrote.

Out of State

"The officers who handle marking of cars parked overtime frequently find cars parked double in front of the chamber offices and many of these cars come from out of the state." If the zones to accommodate two cars are allowed, the chamber will erect necessary signs, he said. The request was referred to Police Chief Floyd Howard and Lieutenant B. A. Hershey, head of the traffic squad, for investigation and recommendation.

ASK STATE, COUNTY GROUPS TO BACK VACATION PROJECT

Compiling evidence that a change in school vacation periods during the summer would be advantageous, the Newport Harbor Chamber of Commerce has secured valuable climatic data which will be submitted to members of the legislature when the plea for a change in date is submitted.

Representatives of the big San Francisco organization, "Vacations Incorporated," headed by Harvey M. Toy, of San Francisco, have been asked to co-operate with Orange county interests who are advocating the change.

Action Is Urged

The proposal has been submitted to Harry May, secretary of the Associated Chambers of Commerce, with the request that the county-wide organization create a committee to advance the idea at the right time.

The Orange County Coast association committee is working on a way to press the matter before the school teacher groups and educational interests and will recommend the change to the representatives in the legislature from Orange county.

Approval Seen

It is believed that state-wide co-operation on a uniform plan for later vacation periods during the summer will meet with general approval and will be an advantage to all concerned, officials said.

Members of the Orange County Coast association committee are Judge Warner, of San Clemente; J. P. Greeley, of Balboa, first superintendent of education in Orange county; Sidney P. Davidson, principal of the Newport Harbor High school; Leo T. Koppl and A. F. Wilson, of Huntington Beach; Dr. Vincent Caroli and Richard W. Rowland, of Laguna; C. A. Miller, of Seal Beach; W. H. Crofoot, of Los Alamitos, and Harry Welch, of Newport Beach, secretary of the coast group.

Two Are Granted Police Powers

Applications of L. B. Hiett, 118 East Pomona, and William Alexander Smith, 610 Bush street, for appointments as special police officers to serve without pay while working as patrolmen for Gil Wagner, merchant patrol head, were granted by city council last night. The grants were made only for the period they may be employed by Wagner.

Diego has made application to establish a similar business here again, at 111 South Main, and that a hearing is scheduled. The hearing will be held at the council meeting of January 30 at 7:30 p.m.

SOCIETY AND CLUBS WOMEN'S ACTIVITIES

Miss Lois Murray's Engagement Told Intimate Group

Anticipated as "party day" by members of an intimate little club group, Sunday proved to be even more significant, since it was the time chosen by Miss Lois Murray for announcement of her betrothal to Carl Wopsschall of Pasadena.

Miss Erline Farmer received club members for breakfast in the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. E. U. Farmer, 1221 South Parton street. Heavy Mexican lace spread the table, colorful with pottery and a mirrored tree formed of Christmas balls. Tall tapers in soft shades completed the effective background. Gifts were exchanged around a Christmas tree made lively with blue and silver decorations. Assisting the hostess was her mother and sister, Mrs. Farmer and Mrs. Fern Willis.

At one o'clock, the girls were joined by their escorts for a delightful time during which pie and coffee were served. It was during this interval that a large box of chocolates was passed as an announcement of the betrothal of Miss Murray and Mr. Wopsschall. The bride-elect, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Owen Murray of Irvine, is a member of the County Library staff. She attended local schools. Her fiance, who studied at University of Southern California, soon is to take the bar examination.

The young people remained at the Farmer home for a session of Chinese checkers. Popcorn and apples were served. Climaxing the evening, the group went to La Hacienda cafe, where a table had been reserved for a 6:30 o'clock dinner.

In the party were the Misses Lois Murray, Owen Griffin, Arden Murray, Dorothy Van Deuseen, Madeline Paxton, June Lich, Erline Farmer; Mr. and Mrs. Millford Carnes and Misses Carl Wopsschall, Bain Alexander, Bob Bradley, Loren Wilson, Russell Abbey and Bud Watkins.

Junior Literary Club Has Holiday Party

Joining in the long list of groups paying deference to the season with gay parties, members of the Junior Literary club celebrated Saturday morning amidst the Christmas decorations of the branch library at Julia Lathrop Junior High school.

Miss Betty Jeanne Stevens had planned games appropriate to the season, and prize-winners were Frank Devenny and Roger Howell. When the calls to refreshment came, young people found the table festooned with deep blue streamers and miniature Christmas trees. Favors were scarlet snappers which provided caps for everyone.

A large Christmas tree held innumerable gift packages and Marvin Carleton had the role of Santa Claus in distributing them among the merrymakers.

Miss Marguerite West Hill and Miss Leona Calkins, club advisors, were present, with club members including the Misses Kearney Luers, Betty Jeanne Stevens, Betty Betts, Janice Lee Wallingford, Nancy Standring, Betty Jean Rosemeyer, Lorene Todd, Barbara Tatton, Lois Bogardus, Betty Lee Mills, Mary Danielson, Maria Urquiza and Jeannette Waiters, with the youths of the club, Robert Miller, Marvin Carleton, Robert Carleton, Roger Howell, Paul Witmer Jr. and Frank Deveney.

Announcements

Women's Benefit Association will hold a Christmas party Friday afternoon at 2 o'clock with Mrs. Margaret Culver, 1033 West Third street.

Martha Washington club will meet Wednesday at 12:30 p.m. for luncheon and a Christmas party in the home of Mrs. Herman Zabel, 506 East Washington avenue.

Sycamore Rebekah Sunshine club will meet Thursday afternoon at 2 o'clock in L. O. O. F. Hall.

Social Order of Beaucrant members will meet in Masonic temple tomorrow noon for a covered dish luncheon. After a short business session immediately following the luncheon, will come a Christmas party and gift exchange.

Children Participate In Festivities At Country Club

Children of Santa Ana Country club members shared a gay party Saturday afternoon when a traditional event took place in the prettily-decorated clubhouse. Mrs. Riley Huber, Mrs. William Jeffrey and Mrs. E. D. Holmes Jr. formed the committee in charge.

There were games of interesting variety to interest the girls and boys. Winning prizes were Ann Stauffer, Margaret Walker, Harriet George, Barbara Baker, Fred Forgy Jr. and Robert Stauffer.

With the arrival of Santa Claus, guests were given an opportunity to discuss their Christmas wishes. Of course there were gifts for all the children.

Balloons and candy canes were favors distributed during the refreshment interval, when ice cream and cookies were served at a large table.

Present were Ann Stauffer, Robert Stauffer, Joan Forgy, Fred Forgy Jr., Stanley Reinhaus, Margaret Reinhaus, Donald Merker, Dickie Merker, Mary Catherine Olewiler, Donna Olewiler, Barbara Baker, Harriet George, Margaret Walker, Le Roy Brown, Patsy O'Neill, Dale Knox, Jimmie Holles, Judith Holles, Mary Graham, William Jeffrey, Carl Tuttle, Sandra Harbert, Mary Ball, Donald Ball, Mary Jean Tedstrom and Bobbie Jean.

Among those unable to attend were Dennis Holmes, who was ill with chicken pox, and Linda Huber, who was home with a cold.

French Noel Provides Theme For Section Program

French customs and traditions were injected into the December meeting of Junior Elber Travel section, a delightful event of Friday evening in the home of Mrs. Robert Guild, 202 Nineteenth street.

Mrs. Thomas Glenn told of Christmas in France, drawing of old-time legends which are of particular interest. French peasant numbers were given by a trio composed of Mrs. Calvin Flint, violinist; Mrs. Kramer Roefleisch, pianist and Mrs. Raymond Trevor, vocalist. Group singing of Christmas carols highlighted the program.

Service of crepes suzette and coffee brought the evening to a close. Guests at the affair were the leader, Mrs. Newell Vandermast and Mesdames Frederick Pinkston, Raymond Trevor, George Walker, Fred Burlew, Edmund Guard, Carleton Smith, Charles McDaniel Jr., Clyde Higgins, Thomas Glenn, Quentin Matzen, Calvin Flint, Kramer Roefleisch, Herbert Stroschein and the Misses Mildred Spicer, Jean Ferrey, Elizabeth Smith, Mary Tuttle.

Next meeting will be held January 20.

Many Guests Present For Artist Program

Various Santa Anans were in Anaheim Friday evening for the first of a series of recitals featuring seven piano teachers of Orange county, who are members of the Olga Steeb Master class. The affair was staged in the studio of Mrs. Margaret Buttress.

Guests were privileged to hear a program which included Chopin's "Black Key Etude" played by Katherine Steward, Anaheim; "Prelude in A minor" (Debussy) by Mrs. Gladys Wiley, Laguna Beach; "Sheep May Safely Graze" (Bach) and "Water Music" (Handel), two-piano numbers played by Mrs. Edith Warren, Orange, and Miss Frances Shepherd, Yorba Linda; Chopin's "Waltz in D Minor" and the first movement of Beethoven's "Sonata" played by Mrs. Ida Sherman Limbird, Santa Ana. Mrs. Limbird was wearing a period costume of 1836, the time the Chopin Waltz was written. It had been her great-great-grandmother's wedding dress.

Miss Leona Tompkins, Santa Ana, played "Soiree dans Granade" (Debussy) and "Hungarian Rhapsody" (Liszt) and Mrs. Florence Newkirk, Fullerton, closed the programmed numbers with the Brahms "Rhapsody in G minor." However, Miss Steeb consented to play, and showed her fine artistry in "Dedication" (Schumann-Liszt) and "Caprice in E major" (Paganini-Liszt).

The distinguished Southland pianist will play with Los Angeles Philharmonic orchestra at an April concert. She maintains master classes in Redlands, Pomona and Orange county in addition to her school of music in Los Angeles.

During the informality of the refreshment interval, David Craighead, gifted 14-year-old musician of this city, member of the junior group meeting, Miss Steeb, after each master class, played a Harriet Ware number and the 14th "Hungarian Rhapsody."

Mrs. Buttress was assisted in serving refreshments by Mrs. Olive Shoemaker, Anaheim, and Mrs. Charles G. Nalle, Santa Ana. Other Santa Anans present included Mrs. J. C. Hamill, Zilliden Summer, Julia Constance Layman, the Misses Maurie Hamill, Mildred Marchant, Marilyn Hamill, Mr. and Mrs. Schwankowski and Miss Margaret Scharle of Laguna Beach, active in Musical Arts club, also were present.

HOME FOR CHRISTMAS

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Cole, 618 Cypress avenue are anticipating the arrival this week of their son, Thomas Cole from San Francisco, and of their son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Asa V. Douglass of Richmond.

Thomas Cole, a student at law school in San Francisco, is expected to reach home December 20 for a month's stay. His brother-in-law and sister will come December 23 for a few days' stay in the family home.

Officers of Beaucrant Invited to Luncheon By President

Entertaining her officers who have co-operated in making a pleasant year for Santa Ana assembly Social Order of Beaucrant, Mrs. John H. Shaw, president, was privileged to receive in the charming home of Mrs. Hugh Wiley, 810 French street.

Hospitality took the form of a luncheon, for which Iinen-spread tables had attractive nut cups in the scarlet and green of the season. Mrs. Wiley had her home gay with sprays of Christmas berries. Luncheon was followed by games, with attractive prizes awarded Mrs. Elton Roehm and Mrs. Henry Diers for high and low bridge scores; Mrs. B. Utley and Mrs. J. H. Tompkins, with corresponding ratings in Chinese checkers. Mrs. Shaw made her hospitality an expression of the holiday spirit by presenting silver cheese servers or serving forks to her sister officers. They in turn presented their hosts with a matched set of pottery. Mrs. Wiley, who had not only placed her home at Mrs. Shaw's convenience for entertainment but assisted throughout the afternoon, will be installed as Beaucrant president at the meeting of January 4.

Others present for the pleasant affair included Mesdames S. A. Jones, W. H. Thomas, C. S. Dunn, E. R. Pagenkopf, Elton Roehm, J. L. Knesel, J. W. Hancock, W. V. Whitson, W. M. Clayton, J. F. Tompkins, J. C. Bishop, Henry Diers, C. Neuschwanger, Edgar E. Cox, B. Utley, all of this city, and Mrs. J. Joseph Smith of Pasadena. The only member of Mrs. Shaw's official family unable to be present was Mrs. Arthur Koepsel.

Annual College Dance
Is Festive Affair
In Long Beach

Collegians today were recalling pleasant memories of Jaysee's annual Christmas dance held Saturday evening at Hotel Villa Riviera in Long Beach. Carrying out the holiday theme, a Christmas tree lighted with gold bulbs decorated the hall.

Patrons and patroneuses were Messrs. and Mesdames D. K. Hammond, Calvin C. Flint, Wayne Bartholomew and Mr. T. H. Glenn. Mrs. Hammond was attractive in flowered crepe, while Mrs. Flint was attired in red crepe. Pink silk trimmed in black velvet was worn by Mrs. Bartholomew.

Miss Phyllis Kogler, Junior college social chairman, and general committee chairman for the dance, wore white net. Miss Bettie Timmons, who had assisted with plans for the dance, was attired in white moire. Miss Eleanor Cogan, another committee member, wore orange crepe.

Other attractively gowned dancers included the Misses Beulah Cairns in pink taffeta; Jo Butler in white taffeta; Eileen Gibbs in white net; Margie Lee Brown in black net; Enid Benton, blue taffeta; Betty Hammond, black taffeta; and Bette Ann Munson, black net.

Equally lovely were the Misses Peggy Paxton in flowered crepe; Nancy Cappelen, green net; Marian Timmons, black taffeta and velvet; Barbara Speed, pink taffeta; and Wanda Todd, in black net.

Gay Group of Friends
Has Supper Party
In Beach Home

Investing one of their gay supper parties with the atmosphere of Christmas, members of a closely-knit group of friends met late the past week with Mr. and Mrs. Dan Bowman, in their home on Montero street, Balboa.

The Dan Bowmans are Pendleton, Ore., residents who spend much time in the Southland. They have made their headquarters at the beach for the past several months, and have welcomed this same guest group many times. They are coming into Santa Ana this week, however, and taking one of the Harwood apartments on East Walnut street where they will be settled by Christmas.

A covered dish supper was enjoyed by the party guest, at tables arranged with scarlet candles, sprays of evergreen and pine cones. Chinese checker play was afterward diversion.

In the party with the Dan Bowmans, were Messrs. and Mesdames Cairns in pink taffeta; Jo Butler in white taffeta; Eileen Gibbs in white net; Margie Lee Brown in black net; Enid Benton, blue taffeta; Betty Hammond, black taffeta; and Bette Ann Munson, black net.

Florence Guthrie, black net with pink rosebuds; Arlene Hoffman, wine velvet; Anita Potter, black net; Alice McKee, pink chiffon; Vivian Stanley, Royal blue taffeta; Helen Waldron, wine taffeta; and Caroline Hudspeth, peach taffeta.

Mixing Bowl
BY ANN MEREDITH

One is never too old to learn. I was laboriously blending flour and water for thickening gravy when a friend suggested that I use a covered jar or cocktail shaker. It works like magic: just put in flour and water and shake until creamy smooth. After gravy has thickened let it simmer for at least 15 minutes and you'll never be accused of producing a super quality of hanger's paste.

This simple furniture polish is fine for your hard working dining table. Mix equal parts of olive oil and cold coffee. Apply to furniture with soft cloth and polish with clean dry cloth.

Contributed.

Two big holidays in one month are sure to add pounds to your weight. Send right away for our diet sheet with its choice of three diets. Please enclose stamped, addressed envelope when you write for sheet.

Today's simple Christmas dinner is nicely on its way with this salad served with hot corn muffins as first course. (Bake muffins in hot pie oven.)

WEST COAST — "Thanks for the Memory," with Bob Hope, Shirley Ross, Charles Butterworth, Otto Kruger, Hedda Hopper, Patricia "Honey Chile" Wilder and Roscoe Karns, and "Reformatory," with Jack Holt, Bobby Jordan, Charlotte Wyners; also selected short subjects.

"Daffy Duck In Hollywood," cartoon, and world news.

CUT HEN INTO SERVING PIECES, cover with cold water and bring to a boil. Skim, then add the two vegetables. Cover and simmer until the chicken is tender. Lift out the pieces and thicken the gravy, adding cream or a lump of butter (there should be 3 pints of gravy).

FOR UTENSILS A large flat casserole is ideal. Line it with pastry, arrange noodles or macaroni in bottom, interspersed with sliced egg.

Strip breast meat from bones and put in next. Over breast meat set the bony pieces to hold the pastry top up and out of the gravy, for that way lies a soggy pot pie.

Pour in just enough gravy to come barely to top of bony sections, top with crust and bake 15 minutes in a hot oven. Turn off the heat and leave pie in cooling oven for 10 minutes longer. Serve with extra gravy.

SKI'S THE LIMIT

BY ADELAIDE HUMPHRIES

COPYRIGHT, 1938, N.E.A. SERVICE, INC.

Yesterday: Sally is shocked by the seriousness of Dan's injury. In remorse, she asks his forgiveness. Kisses him goodby. Is it forever, she wonders?

CHAPTER VIII

The white world of the winter carnival had turned into a fresh new one with a gauzy scarf of tender green covering the hillside, birds flying north to begin searching for bits of string and straw to build their nests, crowscuses heroically thrusting up bright brave golden heads.

Corey Porter, home for spring vacation, lost no time in heading his long low sports roadster toward the suburb, near Boston, where Sally Blair lived. Corey was a very important young man these days, in a few months he would graduate, head man of his class. He would be taken into his father's firm, start a new life. But Corey's handsome young face did not wear the important satisfied look it should have. His nice mouth was a bit grim; his blue eyes wore a perplexed expression.

He was going to have a showdown with Sally, or else. Never, in all his experience—and he had had a few, as he prided himself—had any girl treated him as had Sally. Not one word from her since the houseparty, unless you wanted to count the stiff little bread-and-butter note required from formal courtesy, which Corey did not. Never in all his life had Corey been given the "go-by" by any member of the opposite sex.

It was an entirely new experience. Had Sally known it—and maybe she did since she was an experienced young lady, too—it had proved the best possible means of bringing Corey to heel.

For if he had imagined himself taken with Sally before—that last moonlight night of the houseparty, for instance—now Corey knew he was sunk.

NOW he meant business, as he would show Sally by the way he turned into the long driveway that led to her home, sweep up under the big port cochere, ground on the brakes.

It seemed to him much too long before the heavy door finally was unlatched, swung gently open. Then, when he saw that it was Sally who had opened it to him, impatience was well rewarded. He had forgot she was so lovely, that her dark eyes were so soft and shining, her mouth so temptingly sweet. He had forgot that any girl could make him feel as he did now, just looking at Sally again.

"Why, Corey!" She held out a hand, her face breaking into a smile. She drew him in beside, making him welcome. "How nice to see you again! When did you get home? Come in and make yourself at home. It's good to see you."

"You'd never guess it!" Corey returned. His grin was rueful, but his spirits soared. Sally must be glad to see him, after all! "What have you been doing with yourself that you never had time to drop a fellow a line? What did I do to deserve such treatment?"

"I did write—once," Sally reminded. She led the way on into the big living room that was so cheerful with its open fire, gay chintz and profusion of flowers.

Sally was proud of the fact that she had made it so home-like now that she had taken over the task of running her father's house. "I've been busy," she admitted.

"I'm sorry if you feel I've neglected you, Corey."

"Rumor has it," Corey said, flinging his long length down into a deep chair, "that you didn't go back to school, my sweet. How come? Did the grind get you down? I suppose you've been busy flitting and dancing and playing havoc generally from dawn until dawn with all the masculine population within reach."

THERE was something about Sally that he had not noticed before. He could not put his finger on it, call it by name. Sally was prettier than ever, if possible, her dark curls drawn back with a narrow pink ribbon, her dainty frock matching the slight flush in her cheeks. Yet he felt that somehow, she had changed.

Sally laughed, shook her head. No, she had not been busy in that way. But Corey would not understand, or believe her if she denied it. She told him she had not gone back to finish out the term because she had decided to stay home with her father. "I never realized," Sally said, "how Daddy missed me, how all alone he was. I decided to stay here with him; this is a big house you know for one person." Sally's mother had died when she was a child. "Daddy never complained. But I know now how glad he is to have me with him." She knew now, too, how much she had missed the companionship she had never before taken time to share with the father who had given her so much.

"I don't expect you find much time to be with him now!" Corey laughed at this idea. He knew how full the life was of a popular girl like Sally, one party after another, a date for every waking moment, a round of places every night, a few hours' sleep squeezed in each morning. Pretty hectic, but fearfully exciting and gay.

THE NURSERY SCHOOL

Should a child go to nursery school? Yes; if he needs to. And when does he need to? When he cannot get from home the training, experiences and associations he needs for healthy, normal growth.

A child who lives with grown people needs the association of little children his own age. Grown people are likely to weigh him down with their ponderous personalities, their mature ideas, their weariness. No grown person can be a playmate, an intimate friend, of a child. A child needs to meet the mind of another child in order that his mind may be nourished and stimulated. The lonely child living among grown up people ought to benefit by attending a good nursery school.

When a mother has to work and is compelled to leave her little child at home with an aging grandparent, or a busy housemaid, that child would be better off in a good nursery school. There he would have the understanding care that would allow him freedom within the law, association with minds of his own level, social experiences that would discipline him to cooperation with others. Best of all, his mental

ROYAL EMBLEM TO APPEAR

The Canadian Secretary of State has announced that the ban will be removed to permit Canadian manufacturers to reproduce the royal emblems.

TIME FOR RECOVERY

The Wall street Journal says: We must have a full head of steam in the country's machinery, and the bearings must be kept lubricated. Congress will do well to scrutinize carefully all proposals for tax changes with this consideration at all times in the forefront . . .

"We have had six years of 'reform' and for the purpose of this discussion let it be granted that the 'reforms' were in themselves good. But we have had, also, six years in which 'recovery' has been halting, intermittent, and at the last clearly unsatisfactory . . . There is a time for all things and it is the time now for recovery."

PAYING FOR REARMAMENT

More and more news is beginning to leak out concerning the Administration's vast rearmament plan. It seems certain that hundreds of millions will be spent next year for battleships, planes and expansion of all the arms of the military service. This forthcoming "war budget" doubtless will be the largest, for peace time, in our history.

In the meantime, there is considerable talk about possible ways of financing it. The President has said that he does not want to do that by adding to the debt; that he favors a pay-as-we-go plan so far as possible. At the same time, sentiment generally in Congress seems to be against new taxes.

One suggested solution is for the Administration to liquidate some of the tremendous assets held by the RFC. This bureau is a big partner in American industry, and its holdings run into the billions. They are, however, difficult to realize on—no one believes the RFC would dump securities on the open market, as that would be certain to cause a sharp break in values.

So, even though Congress is unwilling, it may be some necessary to pay for rearmament with new taxes, or higher old taxes. If the latter course is chosen, it is likely that the income tax on all or most brackets will be increased one or two per cent.

DON'TS FOR A MERRY CHRISTMAS

A Merry Christmas to you and yours! And remember, it can't be merry unless it's safe.

Fire is the great hazard of the holiday season. It has turned many a gladsome celebration into a horrible tragedy; for the victims of holiday fire are usually children.

So—here are some don'ts for the holidays that will pay you tremendous dividends in the coin of happiness and safety:

Don't use candles on your Christmas tree—the tree itself is highly inflammable and it, together with tinsel decorations placed near flame, may cause a holocaust in your home. Electric light sets are inexpensive, safe and satisfactory.

Don't permit children dressed in flimsy cloth or paper holiday costumes to be in a room with an open flame of any kind. Fatal burns can be suffered in an incredibly brief period of time.

Don't give children gifts that require the use of explosive chemicals, fire, steam or other hazardous chemicals.

Don't allow a mess of discarded Christmas packages to accumulate. A carelessly disposed match or cigarette may cause them to burst into a fire that will swiftly get out of control.

Dry Christmas trees present a major hazard—disposal of yours as soon as the holidays are over.

And—last but not least—don't take a chance of any kind. Be constantly alert.

Have your fun safely, and really and truly enjoy a Merry Christmas.

The Nation's Press

FAMED ECONOMIST BABBON GIVES BUSINESS OUTLOOK FOR TEN YEARS AHEAD

IN ANALYSIS

(Pampa News by Roger Babson)

My question today is not whether business will be good or bad in 1939. I believe that most business analysts are convinced that 1939, on the average, will be a year of activity—with higher prices for commodities, real estate, and securities. At the year-end the press of this country will carry my definite forecast of wage, job, trade and living cost trends for 1939.

At home, our industrial and financial communities are distinctly encouraged by the results of last month's elections. They represent an apparent turn to the right. The swing means no new radical legislation in the next two years. Remember, however, that President Roosevelt still holds the veto power to block any strong conservative program. "Third-term" possibilities may have been killed, although at present there is no assurance of a 1940 Republican victory. Abroad, the Munich Pact, if honestly developed, still holds hope of international good-will.

What About Growth Line
There is, however, a question as to the long-term trend. Is it changing? There are no less than ten definite factors which raise the important question whether the U. S. line and normal growth may not now have changed its slope. Over the months ahead, watch the long-term tendencies.

LABOR: The nation's economic growth may be slowing down by action of labor unions, labor legislation, the restricting of hours, the inflating of wage rates, following the after-effects of sitdown strikes and other disorders.

2. FARM PROBLEM: Agricultural wealth cannot permanently be maintained by restricted output, padded prices, unearned bounties, non-secured loans and other interference with natural laws.

3. CONFIDENCE: Growth rate of the nation's business demands the faith of employers—which cannot flourish in the face of continual attacks by government and labor.

4. MONEY RATES: Confidence of investors is being undermined by current money rates which actually are fictitious. Money rates are being manipulated by the government today as stock prices were rigged by traders in 1929.

5. GOLD: Day by day we are imperiling our future by the foolish policy of exchanging our real assets for the world's gold—good only to gold picture frames and till teeth!

6. ARMAMENT: Although temporarily stimulating to activity, our present armament program cannot replace sound business enterprise. Are munitions an asset or a liability?

7. RELIEF: The apparent intent of the administration to make the relief rolls as permanent as the army and navy surely can have only a depressive ef-

Sharing The Comforts Of Life / By R. C. Hoiles

SOCIAL SECURITY FOR ALL

A news dispatch says that the social security advisory board has advised that social security be extended to all.

As one reads this and sees the present results of social security when the workers are taxed and the tax is used for current expenses instead of being set aside as a surplus of wealth to be returned to the workers when they become dependent, one is convinced that it is no more possible for the government to give social security to the people as a whole, than it is for the people to lift themselves by their own boot straps.

Dr. Link, in his new book, "The Rediscovery of Man," very tritely sums up the social security question by saying, "Our belief that people can achieve social security by voting for it has become the foremost superstition in the United States."

Federal Social Security would mean, if it could be practical, which it cannot, that the government would absorb the management of practically all the savings of the people. Thus, the management of the wealth of the country would be turned over to the politicians and the politician who would make the biggest promises is the one who is elected. It means that the politicians would be obliged to manage the myriad of different kinds of businesses; that there would be no specialists in business; that the politicians would be a Jack-of-all-trades and a master of none.

Instead of social security being social security, as the name implies, it can only lead to unsecurity and more and more poverty, more and more misery and a lower standard of living for the reasons as outlined above. Wealth and security are created by man's working and harnessing the forces of nature to the use of mankind. In addition to this, it requires self-denial, sacrifice and being willing to abstain from consuming the comforts of life at the present so that greater comforts of life can be had later.

It seems absurd that people should be obsessed with the illusions, that, with the kind of politicians we have had in office for the last quarter of a century, these politicians can manage the myriad of industries better than people who have made a life study specializing on different intricate branches of production and distribution.

No, social security does not mean security. It is only a catch phrase to satisfy the people for the moment and keep the lazy, inefficient politicians in office. It is a delusion and a snare and, as Dr. Link says, our foremost superstition.

TOWNSEND PLAN A RECOVERY PLAN!

If there is anything absurd in our current economic illusions, it is the theory advocated by Dr. Francis Townsend that the Townsend plan is a recover plan.

Recently, I was talking with a parrot-advocate of the Townsend plan, who constantly repeats that those who point out the fallacies of the Townsend plan, do not understand it. I told this man that the Townsend plan was just a legalized form of stealing, not a recovery. He emphatically denied this and contended that it would reduce taxes, saying that the two per cent tax would be much less tax than was now imposed.

At this point, I pulled out a check that I had received for selling a couple of hundred shares of stock. I pointed out to this Townsend dreamer that the tax on this one sale would amount to $162.46 under the Townsend plan, while the tax under the present law would be $8.66. In other words, the tax under the Townsend plan would be 18 times as high as it is at present. And, in order to raise $20,000,000, which is to be consumed and not converted into wealth by the Townsend recipients, the tax as a whole would have to take 30 per cent of the national income alone to pay the Townsend pensions. This would be in addition to all the other unnecessary taxes to take care of the government.

Mr. Betts asks by what scale I measure the worth of an individual to society. Truly, I have no definite scale, or I should present it.

Comparative values, with regard to our present situation, both in dollars and cents, and of the scale of the so called ladder of society, might well be looked at to arrive, at best, at a rough conclusion.

As a rule, the upper "400" of society are in the blue book because of financial or political power, or both. Of what use to society is this financial and political influence and power? Most generally it results in a menace to society through the "upper-crust" striving for still more power, trudging everything down in their path to acquire it. Of what value to society are these actions?

I recognize there is a value in capital. There is a value in ingenuity, as well as a value in capacity of comprehension and understanding. I believe this value increases to the point where honesty and integrity towards one's fellow citizens start to dwindle. I also believe that this value becomes zero after the first signs of lack of honesty. How are we to determine when this honesty ceases? This answer would set a basis upon which we could judge values.

With reference to the one million, half million, and quarter million dollar figures I presented, I should have stated that I had in mind, at the time, salaried employees. The campaign, known as the Crippled Children's Copper Cooperatives of Casa Colina, is being sponsored in Santa Ana by Mrs. A. W. Rutan, Mrs. Geo. S. Briggs, and Mrs. Emrys White.

Can you see one man's services worth $65 per day, when 1-3 of his fellow men's services are worth that much per year? Are a man's services worth $1370 per day, when 80 or 85 per cent of his fellow men in trades and services are worth only that much in one year? Are one man's services to society worth $2740 per day, when well trained and intelligent executives in many businesses receive this amount in one year? I think not.

One might well start from the bottom and allow the "common laborer" adequate compensation to decently and advantageously raise and present to the world a family that had known something other than dire want and starvation.

Many reports show that this figure (based on our present dollar, for a family of four) includes medical care, sufficient clothing, correct food, education and relaxation. (If this is possible in this day.) Some place the figure at $180: some as high as $250. The point to recognize here is that it isn't the dollars that they receive, but the exchange values of the dollars that they receive that counts.

Gradually grade up the scale, according to ability to honestly handle different positions of responsibility, and I'd say the top compensation for salaries would be in the neighborhood of $10,000 per year. There should be few of this size.

Finally, it is well to remember that even if this trend line should develop a different slope, the law of action and reaction will still give us black and red areas of "prosperity" and "depression" with corresponding opportunities in securities and business.

I am today making no ten-year forecast, but I do say that 1939 and 1940 may be good business years while the nation as a whole may be making no headway. Furthermore, unless America is swept by a spiritual revival, I now believe the next ten years will see a decline in living standards as well as in public morals!

Fellow Citizens:

The question of the relative values of the services of an individual to society is indeed a ticklish subject, but one that sooner or later must be faced as an underlying economic factor in order to place society on an equitable basis of understanding.

Mr. Betts, the question is still not answered, probably, but maybe if this line of thought were opened up some good might come of it. Who knows? Thank you.

A. E. THOMAS.

Fellow Citizens:

It is worth driving out to Casa Colina Convalescent Home for Crippled Children, three miles southwest of Chino, to see the unusual Christmas lighting. In large letters "Peace On Earth" is spelled out across the east front of the main building. Above is a large five-pointed star. The whole display is so large it may be easily read from a distance of half a mile.

The lights will burn from dark until 9 o'clock every night until Christmas.

Casa Colina has accepted children to the limit of the initial capacity. Over 20 applications are waiting now until additional equipment may be purchased.

Hundreds of persons have responded to the unique campaign which is now being carried on for the financing of an enlarged program in 1939. Every person who can is urged to send in $3.65 which represents a gift of one penny a day for the year. Many are taking more than one share. The amount of one share takes care of one child for one day including all maintenance and pool treatments.

Comparative values, with regard to our present situation, both in dollars and cents, and of the scale of the so called ladder of society, might well be looked at to arrive, at best, at a rough conclusion.

Right here let me say that it takes two or more people to make a transaction. So the transactions have to depend on the acts of some 70 million or so American adults. How much these people could afford to have taxed away from them in order to pay pensions to some 10 million old people is a problem. However they are sure to squawk long before the $200 maximum monthly is reached.

This would levy an annual tax of $344 plus on all the 70 million adults, including Mr. Rockwell. Perhaps he could stand that, but I can't nor can my wife.

I am interested in a plan which will bring about peace to a troubled world, but I'm fed up on the patent nostrums andisms, for which extravagant cures are claimed, but which never measure up.

I haven't forgotten the "Golden Calf."

WASHINGON, Dec. 26.—

If these Argentine matadors expect Mr. Hull to turn out to be a Ferdinand, they are going to be surprised. The state secretary likes flowers. He has never been known to butt. The crockery at a cocktail party such as this Lima conference. But he can also snort.

Certain advance wheezing now heard inside among his trade advisers indicates this administration is leading up to a snort which may blow Argentina upon the trade black list alongside Germany after January 1. This is no red flag waving, no spearlike gesture.

Argentina has been discriminating against American goods. Our exporters have been complaining strongly but quietly to the state and commerce departments. New and worse import control regulations are to be put into effect by Argentina at the new year.

TIPPY TACKER'S CHRISTMAS ADVENTURE

NEW OFFICERS
ON DUTY JAN. 3

Jimmie Fidler

John L. Casey, insurance salesman, and Harold H. McCusson, school crossing guard, who were among the top four men successful in taking civil service examinations for jobs as patrolmen on the Santa Ana police department, were officially named as officers last night by city council.

The two will begin their duties January 3, in accordance with civil service regulations, the civil service commission composed of President George Parker, Secretary Phil M. Brown and Clyde Ashen, selected the four men highest on the list of those who took the recent examination for patrolmen's jobs. Those four included Casey and McCusson.

Council Affirmation

Names of those four, who were submitted to Police Chief Floyd W. Howard so that he might select two, he selected Casey and McCusson and asked council to affirm. Council affirmed last night.

Casey and McCusson will take the places of Officers Tom Kinney and Herman Stahl, now temporary appointees on the job. According to civil service regulation, officers must have been on the job six months prior to adoption of civil service to qualify for permanent jobs without taking examinations. Neither Kinney nor Stahl had served the necessary six months. They rated slightly below Casey and McCusson in the examinations, the report said, therefore must give up their places to the new appointees but will retain their rating.

May Retain Stahl

A third vacancy on the department, caused by the ouster of Officer H. S. Holmes, still must be filled. Chief Howard may be able to retain Stahl under the "specialized service" rule of civil service. Stahl being able to read, write and speak Spanish.

However, he will be forced to compete with others in examinations in reading, writing and speaking Spanish. For every job opening in the police or fire department, the civil service commission submits name of three top-ranking men seeking the job, the commission reported.

SHRINE CLUB WILL JOIN IN PROGRAM

The Shrine Club of Santa Ana at 7:30 p. m. today will join in celebrating the Christmas party of the Orange county juvenile home, furnishing a real Santa Claus with a bag full of elaborate treats for the 32 boys and eight girls of the home.

The Shrine Club, which assisted in the celebration last year, too, also will furnish some musical entertainment, according to W. C. Howell, entertainment chairman for the club.

Santa Claus will appear with his delightful hurdy-gurdy grand organ while Ruth Howell will entertain with her accordion. Following the Shrine presentations, the home officials will offer Christmas presents around the tree.

Jury Decrees
Castro Was Slain

Death of Manuel Castro, 30, of Perry street, Anaheim, Saturday morning in Fullerton, today was definitely established as murder by an inquest jury at the McAliley and Suters funeral chapel, Fullerton.

While the jury, in charge of Coroner Earl Abbey, established the death as murder, a traumatic rupture of the heart, it failed to identify the murderer. Investigating officials declare the murder occurred in the home of Vincent Hernandez, 40, 209 Ash street, Fullerton, after an all-day and all-night drinking bout. A neighbor, Mrs. Santos Mendez, asserted she heard Hernandez berating Castro, then heard the thud of a body falling. Hernandez has disappeared, is being sought for questioning.

Court Notes

Emma S. Gammill was plaintiff today in a suit for $15,500 damages, filed in superior court through Attorney George E. Bradley, of Santa Ana, against Arthur W. Martin. Suit is based on an accident near Laguna Beach September 4 when the plaintiff, walking across high way, assertedly was struck by the defendant's car.

Mrs. Hazel May Jaynes charged cruelty in a superior court suit for divorce filed today against Wilbur H. Jaynes, whom she married in Santa Ana in 1936. They separated last September 4. Attorney Ridley Smith represents the plaintiff.

STATE REPORTS DISEASE GAIN

SAN FRANCISCO, Dec. 20.—The number of cases of venereal disease coming under medical care in California is showing a steady increase, the State Department of Public Health reported today.

42 Cases in County

The report in November showed 1,428 cases of gonorrhea and 2,113 syphilis infections. Cases reported from Orange county numbered 35 for syphilis and 18 for gonorrhea.

More patients who are unable to pay for private medical care are receiving treatment than formerly, Dr. W. M. Dickie, state health director, announced.

Local clinic facilities which have been expanded by the State Department of Public Health are cited as contributing to the fact that nearly 20,000 more treatments were given each month in clinics during the first 10 months of this year than during 1937.

Clinic Treatments Listed

Monthly average for clinic treatments in 1937 was 36,869. Average for the first 10 months of 1938 was 56,288. Treatments were given medically indigent patients in California clinics in October totaled 77,557.

"Local communities must continue to expand clinic facilities to care for people in the low income groups. In some places the use of state and federal funds will be necessary," Dr. Dickie commented.

LAWS REGULATING LOBBYING SLATED FOR ACTION IN 1939

Editor's Note: This is the second of a series of articles surveying the 1939 legislature and the problems confronting the new administration of Governor Frank Olson. The recent legislative corruption inquiry of the Sacramento grand jury emphasized the activities of legislators and the growing importance of lobbying. The subject is discussed by the United Press bureau manager in Sacramento.

BY JOHN W. DUNLAP

SACRAMENTO, Cal., Dec. 20.—(UP)—Charges of corruption in the legislature are often made but seldom proved. With this thought in mind, the Sacramento county grand jury has just completed 19 months of investigation of the legislative and lobbying picture in California.

What the jury found is almost certain to result in a flurry of bills designed to further regulate lobbying, curb lawyer-legislators from representing business interests affected by legislation and prohibit the lawmakers from practicing before state boards and commissions. Many observers feel that legal practices have been abused to the point where regulation may be a must come before the legislature.

Lobbying has become "big business" in California. The mass of legislation—nearly 4000 bills, resolutions and orders of business in 1937—almost requires business concerns to have an observer in Sacramento. There is always the question where observing ends and excessive lobbying begins and the jury recommendation was specific in this connection.

"Appalling Situation"

The jury found "an appalling situation" and an "iniquitous system which strikes at the heart of democracy and free government." Evidence presented showed without question the jury said, "that very large sums of money have been paid by private interests to professional lobbyists . . . as to suggest a bartering with legislators for special privileges and even actual corruption, although that has not as yet been proved." Recommendation was made that lobbyists register their interests and amount paid for their services.

Much of the jury information came from Arthur H. Samish, San Francisco lobbyist who paid income taxes on $101,000 from various concerns in 1937. At least two attorney-assemblies were on his payroll.

Whether or not the legislature "cracks down", its members spoke overwhelmingly for continuation of the corruption inquiry. Some suggested the attorney general should step into the picture.

The question is a "hot" one and should provide much legislative discussion in the next six months.

Tomorrow—Relief, pensions and unemployment.

Grange Members In Yule Affair

GARDEN GROVE, Dec. 20.—A Christmas program featured the meeting of the Garden Grove Grange in the Woman's Civic Clubhouse. Readings were given by Mrs. Dewey Hubbard and Mrs. L. L. Stouffer. A quartet composed of H. W. Christensen, Dewey Hubbard, Mrs. Gertrude Stennett and John Farnsworth entertained.

The quartet also sang during the presentation of a tableau in which Mrs. Bett Ryssman, represented Mary; Archie Taylor, W. R. Donovan and W. O. Eades, the Three Wise Men, and Mrs. H. W. Christensen, the Angel with the Star. All members joined in the singing of Christmas carols.

A report of the trip to Portland, Ore., to attend the 72nd annual meeting of the National Grange was given by Mrs. Charles George, lecturer. Mr. and Mrs. George made the trip accompanied by Mrs. E. E. Ulrich of Tustin.

Refreshments brought by the women were served at the close of the meeting.
